

The Princeton Review: SUNY Maritime among top schools for career placement

The Princeton Review's annual college rankings place State University of New York Maritime College among the top 10 in the nation for career placement after graduation.

This year, SUNY Maritime came in seventh place. The college for years has had nearly 100 percent of its graduates working in careers of their choice after graduation.

“SUNY Maritime excels at educating our students to give them the knowledge and skills they need for a strong start in their careers,” said Rear Adm. Michael J. Alfultis, president of the college. “Applied learning has been our mission for 140 years and will continue to be the driving force to ensure our graduates are ready for the professional world.”

At No. 21, SUNY Maritime was ranked among the top colleges and universities in the nation for internship opportunities.

The college also appeared on the “Best Northeastern College” and “Colleges that Pay You Back” lists. Those lists are unranked but instead include a collection of more than 200 colleges each.

SUNY Maritime is also in first place on the list of colleges whose graduates have the highest median salary 10 years after graduation, according PayScale, Inc.
